

FORWARD

The color red usually denotes danger, and the purpose of The Red Letters is to assist the believer in keeping out of, and away from, spiritual danger. "Therefore watch, and remember, that.....I ceased not to warn every one....." (Acts 20:31).

Of necessity this "red" material is, for the most part, negative. And we have only given partial positive answers to the so-called "Baptism of the Holy Spirit" and related errors with which we have sought to deal.

The main emphasis here is to present first-hand material so as to give the inquiring believer a clear-cut picture, not just of this error which has so long plagued the Church at large, but also a further warning view of the devastation into which this error progressively drags its victims.

For the positive aspect of spiritual development, we point you to The Green Letters booklet for any who are hungry to ".....grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." (II Peter 3:18).

Miles J. Stanford
1965